SUMMARY OF ONTARIO MUNICIPAL STATISTICS: 1977 TO 1986

I. INTRODUCTION

Data Sources

This publication is based primarily on the Financial Information Returns (FIRs) submitted annually to the Ministry of Municipal Affairs by all Ontario municipalities. The statistics shown in this report were extracted from the Ministry's database that contains all the information from the FIRs as well as other municipal data.

The presentation of the data follows the fund basis on which municipalities are required to report their financial affairs. The three funds are the revenue fund, the capital fund and reserves and reserve funds. The first reports not only such ordinary operating expenditures as salaries, services and supplies, but also such items as debt charges, transfers to the capital fund and transfers to reserves and reserve funds. The second is used to account for expenditures that create or extend the useful life of municipal plant and equipment. The third fund is used to account for money put aside by a municipality for application on designated projects at a later date, to cover future liabilities and to provide for working funds or contingencies.

The functional categories, under which municipal services are reported in the statistical appendices, reflect the standard reporting requirements of the FIR. Section II defines each category and the services or expenditures they include.

In the FIRs, municipalities are required to consolidate the transactions of approximately 2,000 local boards including library and health boards and transit commissions. Exceptions to this rule include hydro systems, gas and telephone utilities, hospitals, conservation authorities, children's aid societies and housing authorities. Only the municipal contributions to these entities appear in the FIR. In order to present an accurate picture of the extent of local financial activities, the figures for conservation authorities and children's aid societies have been adjusted to include provincial transfer payments, their only other source of funds.

The data from 1977 to 1985 have been updated to reflect the current reporting practices used for the 1986 FIRs.

Local Government Structure

A general understanding of the structure of Ontario local governments is useful for interpreting the information contained in this publication. At the end of 1986, there were 839 municipalities in the Province. Of these, 800 were "lower tier" or "local" municipalities (cities, towns, separated towns, villages, townships and improvement districts), and 39 were "upper tier" municipalities (counties and regional governments). In order to make consistent inter-year comparisons, the number of municipalities for each municipal status (i.e. towns, townships, etc.) contained in Appendices D and E have been revised for the years 1977 to 1985 to reflect the current situation in 1986. For example, if a municipality was a township from 1977 to 1984 and in 1985 it became a town, then the information for this particular municipality has been reported as a town for all 10 years.

Where the county system is in effect, lower tier municipalities have the responsibility to provide most municipal services to their residents. The county governments provide only county roads, homes for the aged and welfare administration out of the spectrum of major services generally provided by municipalities. The cities and separated towns located in a county are financially independent of the county for municipal purposes and are responsible for the provision of all services to their residents. As such, they do not raise taxes on the behalf of the upper tier or county government. Examples of such centres include the City of London, the City of Windsor, the City of Kingston and the Separated Town of Smith Falls. Lower tiers which participate in the county structure raise taxes for their own purposes as well as money requisitioned by both the upper tier and school board.

Two-thirds of Ontario's population live in areas with a regional form of government. This includes, in addition to the ten regional municipalities established over the period 1969-74, the Municipality of Metropolitan Toronto (1954), the District Municipality of Muskoka (1972) and the Restructured County of Oxford (1975). The upper tier in a region has more service responsibilities than in a county structure. While there are variations from one region to another, regional services include arterial roads, transit, policing, sewer and water systems, planning and development on a region-wide basis, and all health and social services. The lower tier municipalities look after local roads, fire protection, garbage collection, recreation and local planning needs. All lower tier municipalities in a region have services provided to their taxpayers by the region and all raise taxes to support the regional level of government. In some cases, the upper tier will also raise taxes directly from ratepayers in the form of municipal charges such as direct water billings and sewer surcharges.

Communities in northern Ontario are widely dispersed and most territory between them is not organized for municipal purposes. There are no county governments and only one regional government (Sudbury), although, there are several urban centres of significant size. The ten territorial districts into which the north has been divided, exist for judicial and administrative purposes only. The operations of Local Service Boards and roads boards which provide services to people living in areas without municipal organization, have been excluded from this publication.

In Appendix B, Ontario's municipalities have been grouped into six types, or sectors. The division of the groups is based on type of organization, servicing responsibilities and location. The six sectors are defined in the 'List of Appendices'.
